

ACES Readiness Survey

Question	Yes	No	Not Sure
1. When schools in your district make purchases, does it include the correct school code?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
2. Are salaries and benefits for full-time staff like classroom teachers counted as part of each school's spending?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
3. Are salaries for staff with more than 1 school assignment, such as social worker, counted as part of each assigned school's spending? If they are, is the apportionment by location and fund up-to-date and accurate?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
4. Are centrally purchased goods like textbooks or computers allocated to the schools where they'll be used?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
5. Are service contracts like school security or food services apportioned to the schools that benefit from them?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
6. Are maintenance staff or school nurses allocated to schools?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
7. Have you ever compared the distribution of resources at schools across the district?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
8. Do you know what the drivers are in your district, such as special education spending, that result in some schools spending more per student than other schools?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
9. Have you ever communicated to parents why there are differences in per pupil spending by school?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>

! Results

If you answered "No" or "Not Sure" to three or more of the questions above, you may need ACES to support your state or district in complying with the new fiscal regulations of ESSA. ACES is designed to calculate and analyze the breakdown of expenditures at and across district schools, enabling districts to accurately attribute centrally-reported funds to schools. Learn more about ACES at acesforessa.com or reach out to hello@allovue.com.